

American Committee of Medical Entomology (ACME) Future Leaders in International Medical Entomology

ACME works to promote medical entomology within ASTMH and in organizations whose scopes of activities include the area of human diseases transmitted by arthropods. We seek opportunities to emphasize and expand the contributions of medical entomology to tropical medicine and also to appropriately recognize outstanding contributions by next-generation medical entomologists.

The Future Leaders fellowship is a competitive award that will be offered to an outstanding junior medical entomology researcher (must be at the undergraduate to post-doctoral level) to showcase individuals that have matched interests to ACME's objectives of promoting medical entomology and reducing the burden of human diseases transmitted by arthropods globally. Applicants must be a non-US citizen from an LMIC.

One awardee will receive $2,000 to be used towards attending the ASTMH Annual Meeting and/or research supplies. The awardee must present their research at ASTMH and acknowledge the ACME Future Leaders Fellowship in their presentation and when publishing research supported by the fellowship. Women are encouraged to apply.

Application Materials:

- Cover letter (2 pages maximum) to describe independent research project and its impact on the field of Medical Entomology.
- CV.
- 2 letters of support from mentors on the capability of the applicant to perform the research and level of anticipated impact of findings on the field of medical entomology in the applicant's country.
- 2x2 high-resolution headshot photo.

Timeline:

- Online application site - Beginning May 21, submit your application online.
- Application deadline – June 24.
- Notification - Award notices will be sent in July.

Application Instructions:

Collect all application materials prior to submitting them to the online awards system. Although the applicant will be able to edit their award submission prior to the June 24 deadline, the submission process will be much easier if the applicant collects all application materials prior to submission.

Very important...The letters of support must be uploaded directly to the ASTMH application site by the applicant's mentors. The submission site will ask the applicant to provide the name, mailing address, phone and email for the mentors.

The submission program will then generate an email to each mentor with instructions to upload the letter of support to the ASTMH application site. It is very important that the applicant gathers the contact information for these mentors prior to beginning their online submission. It is then the applicant's responsibility to communicate with the mentors to ensure that they have received the email generated by the submission site and have uploaded the letter by the June 24 deadline.

After June 24, any application that does not include the two letters of support will be considered incomplete and will not be forwarded to the review committee.

Once the application is complete you will receive confirmation by email.
